Executive Summary

Senate Bill 10 as signed into law on May 18, 2007, created the Georgia Special Needs Scholarship (GSNS) Program which allows parents of eligible special needs students to transfer their children to another public school, public school system, state school, or approved participating private school.

This report represents the results for the 2011 - 2012 school year as required by O.C.G.A. § 20-2-2118, which stipulates that the Governor's Office of Student Achievement, in conjunction with the Georgia Department of Education (GaDOE) shall provide the General Assembly not later than December 1 of each year with a report regarding the scholarship program for the previous fiscal year. This was the fifth school year the GSNS Program was administered.

2011 - 2012 Georgia Special Needs Scholarship Program Students' Pre/Post Assessment and Information:

Private schools are required to provide pre- and post-assessment information on GSNS students enrolled at their schools for the subjects of reading and math. Progress information is not reported on all students due to students leaving the GSNS Program before a private school is able to administer pre-and post-assessments to a GSNS student.

The legislation governing the GSNS Program does not give the GaDOE the authority to mandate specific assessments to be used by private schools. Private schools select their own assessments to measure student progress. Progress information is self-reported by private schools to the GaDOE.

At the end of the 2011 – 2012 school year, private schools with scholarship students, submitted assessment information for 2,537 students in the subject of math and 2,544 students in the subject of reading.

Private schools reported the following:

Math

- 26% of their students showed progress of less than one year.
- 13% of their students showed no progress.
- 37% of their students showed progress of one school year.
- 23% of their students showed progress of more than one school year.
